Parental controls

With Christmas nearly here and perhaps with presents technology or related games being received, we you with a little reminder of how to set up appropriate

Games/consoles

First, check the PEGI games to ensure that enough to be playing age classifications for the age suitability of a difficulty. It is PEGI do not take into

Be kind online

It can be very easy online for children to behave in a way that they wouldn't if they were face to face with each other. Talk to your child about how they are speaking to others online and encourage them to talk to people online with respect and kindness, like they would if they were face-to-face.

Dr Linda Papadopoulos (Internet Matters Ambassador) provides tips on how you can help your child to be kind online in this

YouTube video such as teaching them how to be inclusive and think about how they would like to be treated online themselves: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1BqKi3J7g6Q&t=9s

Ensure that your child understands that if they receive unkind messages (or see something that worries them) then they should not reply or engage in conversation with them, but that they should tell a trusted adult. You can use the tools within an app to report any offensive or hurtful content as well as block people so they cannot contact you again in the future.

Unicef have a comprehensive area on their website, which talks about what Cyberbullying is and how to stop it:

How can

Whilst we wait for the Online Safety Bill to be improve Online Safety, there are certain laws protect us online. For example, in the UK we have passed, which will hopefully already established to help the Malicious Communications

Act 1988 that states it is an offence to send a communication that conveys an indecent or grossly offensive message or a threat. We also have the Protection from Harassment Act 1997, which covers threatening behaviour or harassment online.

Report Harmful Content have curated a list of laws that are relevant to online behaviour here: https://reportharmfulcontent.com/when-should-you-go-to-the-police/
